Saturday the celebrated West Ends, of Milwaukee, play here.

—Judge J. R. Bennett came home from Barbours yesterday, with the intention of going to Milwaukee, to preside at the trial of the proceedings to disbar Judge David M. Small, of that city. Yesterday afternoon, however, he received notice that the case had been postponed until the 23rd of this month. The proceedings against Judge Small's action in a divorce case, and the developments will be watched with great interest around the state.

—The postoffice now has a new inspector in the shape of a frolicsome black dog. He comes to the office early in the morning and hangs around all day. If another dog comes in, the clerks have learned to expect a disturbance. Twenty times a day they have a dialogue that bears a strong resemblance to the remarks of a buzz saw as it strikes a knot, and the cause is always the new official. He regards all other dogs that come past the dog as intruders, and makes them understand this by unmistakable signs. To the boys and girls that come in, however, he is thoroughly good natured, and has become a strong favorite, but where he belongs, no one knows.

A COLLISION.

Four Freight Trains Crash Together on the Northwestern Road, in the Outskirts of Beloit.

Two Men Badly Hurt.

From the Beloit Free Press of Monday, April 5th: There was a remarkable accident on the Chicago & Northwestern road early this morning near the fourth street crossing of the track in the outskirts of the city, in which four trains came together, wrecking two engines and injuring two men.

The trains were "wilds" and consisted of three engines with only co-coaches attached, and one engine with twelve cars. These trains pulled out of Harvard about three o'clock this morning, bound for Madison. They passed through the city at about five o'clock and each was supposed to look after its own welfare so far as running time is concerned. There was a dense fog, and in the dim daylight vision was much obscured so that the engineers could see but a little distance ahead of their engines.

The first "wild" was a little way past the fourth street crossing, where the road makes a short turn, when the second engine bumped into the caboose of the one ahead, throwing it partially off the track. This had hardly occurred when the third engine crashed into the second caboose. This collision was with considerable force and the head of the locomotive was put some five feet into the caboose, both being badly wrecked.

The conductor, A. W. Squires, and Manley Kenyon, a brakeman, were sitting in the second caboose when the crash came, and both were badly hurt.

The last train was some distance behind the others, and was getting under good headway, and was probably running at the rate of 12 miles per hour. The heads of the wrecked train knowing that the fourth was coming close at hand, attempted to flag it, but the train came up in a moment, and the engineer discovering the danger attempted to stop, but only succeeded in skidding up so that the locomotive struck the wreck with slightly decreased force.

A. W. Richardson, brakeman of the third train, was somewhat injured. The wreck was soon removed from the track as soon as possible, and Dr. S. Bell, the railroad surgeon, and Dr. H. R. Clark, were summoned. The injured men were taken to the Central house.

Mr. Squires' injuries are very serious; his head was terribly crushed and one of his eyes was crushed out of its socket. Dr. Bell expressed anxiety over his condition. Mr. Kenyon is a brother-in-law of Mr. Squires, and has dangerous injuries on his body. Both men live at Harvard.

The head of the third engine was all knocked to pieces, and the head of the fourth suffered considerably. The third engine was "killed" in the yard here and drawn away for repairs. The second and third engines were all knocked to pieces.

The engine crew and conductors were as follows:

First engine—W. Wellington, engineer; Tom Enley, fireman; I. L. Laird, conductor.

Second engine—Eugene Shields, engineer; Michael Mahen, fireman; M. Happe, conductor.

Third engine—Tom Reynolds, engineer; Ed Archer, fireman; A. W. Squires, conductor.

Fourth engine—Chris Stoddard, engineer; Charles Young, fireman; Mr. Bland, conductor.

Some of the boys jumped while others stuck to their posts.

The train hands all claimed that owing to the fog they could see scarcely any distance ahead.

Only a few trucks of two cabooses left the rails, so the wreck was soon cleared.

Minnesota Excursion.

Remember the excursion which leaves for Southern Minnesota Monday, April 12th, $10.00 buys a round trip ticket and furnishes an opportunity to see the country and buy a farm at rates never before offered on western land. For tickets and full particulars, apply to Wheeler & Stevens, Real Estate block, Janesville, Wis. Another excursion will leave Monday, April 20th.

The Race to the Fair.

The Cities fair, now being held in Chicago, will continue until April 24th. This is an exhibition of growing semi-tropical fruits from California, and is worthy of patronage. Orange groves are seldom seen in Chicago, and now is the time to look upon a fair-sized grove of oranges. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway have on sale excursion tickets for round trip, at $3.50. Dates of sale: April 6th, 9th, 13th, 16th, 20th and 23d. Tickets good to return four days from date of sale.

Personal.

—Miss Lizzie Palmer returned last evening from a week's visit at Fort Atkinson.

—Miss Mary Airs starts to-morrow for Oshkosh where she will visit friends and relatives during vacation.

—Mr. J. N. Humphrey, of Whitewater, is in the city, in the interest of Mr. C. L. Burdick, the artist of Madison. Mr. Burdick makes a specialty of crayon and ink work, and Mr. Humphrey has with him a life sized portrait of Dr. C. L. Martin. This picture was made expressly for exhibition at the State fair last fall, and as a work of art is exceedingly fine. The many friends of Dr. Martin will recognize in the picture the merits of a master artist. The picture will be on exhibition at the bookstore of R. W. King for a few days. Mr. Humphrey has been connected with the normal school at Whitewater for the past five years.

The Devil's Auction.

The ever-popular Gilmore's "Devil's Auction" is drawing large houses this week. The company, including the ballet, is a very strong one, and embraces some exceedingly clever people. The vocal specialties of Mr. Dillyn were warmly received. The grotesque trapeze act, by Mason and Lark was very laughable, and the gymnast eccentricities of the Garralls Brothers stamps them as amateurs and contortionists having no superiors. Miss Dempsey, who in her line is a great favorite in New York city, never appeared to better advantage than she did last night. She has a beautiful figure, handsome face and a good voice. Her song, "Our Arrangements" was encored repeatedly. The scenery used in this representation of the "Devil's Auction" is very elaborate and beautiful, and so managed that the transformations are smooth, noiseless and without hitch.—St. Louis Globe Democrat. At the opera house to-morrow evening. Reserved seats for sale at Prentice & Evanson's.

THE DECISION REVERSED.

The Norcross-Griffith Case Finally Settled.

This morning a dispatch was received from Madison containing the news that the decision of the circuit court in the case of Norcross against Griffith had been reversed. The proceedings in this case were commenced several years ago. They arose from a dispute as to who had the right to build over the river from John Griffith's hardware store, to Peter Myers building in the center of the river. The plaintiff claimed that he owned the entire block, which extended, of course, to the center of the river, with the exception of such parcels of land as had been disposed of. One of these lots was the one occupied by the original store of the defendant. In the deed it was set down as extending forty-six feet east from the Talmau lot and one hundred and thirty-five feet south from Milwaukee street, being laid out so as to extend into the river about three feet. Beyond these boundaries, which were explicitly set forth, it was claimed that the defendant had no right to build, and when the store was built, W. C. Holmes occupies, a notice to vacate was issued. The defendant refused to comply, holding that as his lot extended to the water's edge, he therefore owned the land out to the river, and had the right to build on it. Action was therefore commenced in the circuit court, and about a year ago a decision was rendered by Judge Bennett in favor of the plaintiff. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, William Ruger and B. B. Eldridge being attorneys for the plaintiff, while the Hon. John Winans, the Hon. J. C. Sloan and Ed. F. Cropper appeared for the defendant. The decision of this court now gives Mr. Griffith the ownership of the lot of Rock river on the south side of the bridge, out as far as Peter Myers' building.

SQUABLY SHUT OUT.

The Muncies Fail to Make a Goal, Extinguishing Hope.

Last evening the Muncies played a stronger game than on either of the other two evenings. Their hard hitter, Schaefer, was not on the floor, his place being taken by Smith. Instead of the pounding seen in the other two evenings they relied mostly upon passing and had it not been for the splendid goal work of Brown and Ridgely they would have made it much closer for the home team. Kirk showed well to be one of the best players ever seen on the floor, although his inability to strike accurately for goal was considerably against him. Buchanan, Beeson and Sperry were too much for him on speed however, and the goal man of the visitors had all that they could attend to. The goals were all made by skillful playing, nothing being seen that had the least resemblance to a "scrutiny." In one Sperry carried the ball from one end of the floor to the other and drove it into an unguarded spot in the cage; in another Beeson carried it past the Muncie rushers, and bringing into service his trick of hitting the floor and immediately making a quick strike at the ball, he secured the goal; while in the last, which lasted a little over a minute, Beeson took the ball as it came to him from the rush, and struck it length of the floor to Buchanan, who was standing near the Muncie cage, and who promptly tossed it over the line.

Teachers' Institute.

At roll call this morning fifty-two persons responded. After a reading of a selection on "Physical Culture" by the superintendent, Miss Lillie Golden and Miss Mary Conway read papers on the "Use and Abuse of the Blackboard," which were carefully listened to and profitably discussed.

After a short recess, Miss Mattie Ben, edited read a paper on "The Why and Want of Physiology," illustrated by a blackboard exercise and class drawings.

Mr. Frank D. Jackson then occupied an hour in the performance of a number of experiments (demonstrative of) principles of Physiology and Hygiene.

At the close of this period Sperry introduced the state superintendent, Hon. Robert Graham, who led the teachers to a consideration of the "Relations of the State to Education." This exercise closed the work of the forenoon. At the end of an hour's intermission, Miss Kate Nelson gave a class exercise in music which elicited some interesting discussion. At its close Sperry, Graham paid an eloquent tribute to the value of vocal music as a factor in the education which is fit for true, noble manhood or womanhood. He then passed to a presentation of "The Real Purpose of the Teacher's Work," which is in progress as we go to press.

President Salisbury here, and will conduct an exercise on "How to Study." Lectures this evening—subject, "What For?" Mr. Salisbury is president of Whitewater Normal school, was superintendent of the Freedman's Board of Mission schools for the United States, Miss Kate comes at six o'clock—lectures at high school to-morrow morning. Dr. Storrs comes at 9 a. m. to-morrow.

Relief in Death.

The following item from the Estelline Bell relating to illustrated newspapers has a peculiar local significance just now. The warning that it contains should be heeded or else such tragedies may be witnessed in this city before long:

A well dressed and distinguished looking gentleman rapidly approached a pier at Chicago, looked around wildly and plunged headfirst into the water and disappeared from view.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried a man who had witnessed it, rushing up to a policeman, "didn't you see him?"

"Yes, sir."

"Aren't you going to try to save him?"

"It's no use, sir, he got his way every morning. They can't help it."

"Can't help it? What do you mean? What have they been doing?"

"Oh, they haven't been doing nothing," said the man, "but as many jump in. They're the wuns as their picknick come out in the Chicago papers each mornin' yee see, sir. There comes another wun yee now—see, the big divil on the run wid no hat or coat an' swingin' uv the newspaper, sir."

THE CITY SCHOOLS.

An Adjourned Meeting of the Board of Education.

The Business Considered.

An adjourned meeting of the board of education was held last evening, at which all the commissioners were present except President St. John.

On motion, Commissioner Bowles was elected president pro tem.

The clerk read the journal of the meeting of the 5th of March and the 3rd of April, which was approved.

The treasurer's report for the month of March, was read, ordered received and placed on file.

Amount credited to school fund..... $2,271.18
Balance on hand April 1st..... 7,566.91
Sundry bills, amounting to $80.20, were presented and referred to the Finance committee.

Mr. Richardson, of the Finance committee, reported the bills correct and on his motion the clerk was authorized to draw orders for the several amounts.

Prof. C. H. Keyes presented his report for the month of March. It embraced the standing of the different members of the classes in the high school together with the department, scholarship, attendance and punctuality. He also referred to the Teachers' Institute now in session, and the salient points to be presented in its future programme.

He also presented for the consideration of the board a set of Primary charts from the well known publishing house of Appleton & Co. This was exhibited in duplicate, and on the suggestion of Mr. Wilson further consideration and action in the matter was postponed until the next meeting. The report was received and placed on file.

On motion of Mr. Wilson the board adjourned to Tuesday evening, April 13th.

TOBACCO.

Assorted Tobacco in Good Demand. No Change in Prices.

Hints to Growers—Markets in the East.

JANESVILLE.

Several new buyers have come into the market during the past week. They are, however, only taking tied leaf, buying very little if any banded goods. Falk Bros. who are doing the most business just now, are only dealing in leaf that is tied in small hands without assortment. They say there is not enough good in the crop to pay for seeping the grades, and that what wrappers there are in the crop should be included with the binders, to raise their standard. Several of the Janesville tobacco men are now almost through their purchasing, having taken in as much as they can handle. The prices during the week have been about as usual, assorted goods bringing on an average about 10, 4 and 2 cents, while wrappers and binders together bring about 5 cents. If farmers do not soon prepare their crops for warm weather they must either sell at a low price or let it spoil on their hands.

FILINGS.

These very sound statements are published in the Minneapolis Bulletin:

It costs more to grow pounds than it does to produce quality. If you could increase your soil, so that every year, this fact would stand out very conspicuously.

Worn out, impoverished soil will not produce good tobacco—no matter how fine the seed.

The eastern growers are as discouraged with the prospect as those in the west are, and their journals are advising them to either turn back to seedling and making hills sixteen inches apart, grow binder crops entirely; or if determined to continue in rivalry with Scamatra, to reduce their acreage one-half, but employ as much labor as ever, and fertilize highly.

The agricultural journals throughout the country are strongly advocating the use of canvas covers on plant beds. In the west in the past few years the custom has been quite common, and consequently there has been no dearth of plants, which have experienced a freedom from insects and a rapidity and uniformity of growth that was before unknown. This is one of the greatest blessings that experience has taught tobacco planters, and those who fail to avail themselves of it, are only injuring themselves. The cost of material for a plant bed is insignificant compared with the advantages secured, and with ordinary care and precaution it can be preserved for years.

EVANSVILLE.

The tobacco market has been very quiet in this section for some time until last week. Mr. Gagen, of the firm of Sorver, Cook & Gagen, of Philadelphia has bought Chas. Sperry's, Julian and Henry Sperry's, Richard Douse's, C. L. Bates's and John Nichols's tobacco for 5 and 10 cents for binders and wrappers. Mr. Gagen bought several other crops of tobacco but the prices or the parties' names couldn't be learned. The sorting warehouse's have closed for this year.

OHIO.

Long processions of tobacco laden wagons, and bustling activity at the warehouses and depots, are features of the week. The bulk of exchange is in old and new Spanish, new seed and Dutch. Prices remain as last quoted—about 30 for 34 Spanish and 100 for 25; 5 to 10 for 35 seed, and 7 to 8 for new Dutch. Many fine crops are held above these prices.—Minneapolis Bulletin.

PENNSYLVANIA.

There has been no let up in the buying of the new crop. It has continued with unabated vigor everywhere, with the difference that goods are now growing scarce. As the supply begins to run short there seems a tendency to a stiffening in prices, and what is still left will bring as good prices as that sold earlier in the season.—Lancaster Free Press.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried a man who had witnessed it, rushing up to a policeman, "didn't you see him?"

"Yes, sir."

"Aren't you going to try to save him?"

"It's no use, sir, he got his way every morning. They can't help it."

"Can't help it? What do you mean? What have they been doing?"
